Try hundreds of headphones at CanJam Europe

Berlin, 20.09.2016 - At headphone show CanJam Europe on Sept. 24th and 25th, way more than 100 brands will present their new and highlight products in Essen, Germany. CanJam Europe offers the unique opportunity to try more than 1,000 headphones, amps, sources and accessories. Visitors literally sit at a table with exhibitors at the show and can try every device on display. CanJam Europe is aimed at hifi and headphone enthusiasts, professional users as well as interested novices looking for a new headphone.

Many manufacturers and distributors are bringing European and world premieres to Europe's largest headphone show. German powerhouse Sennheiser presents their HE1/Orpheus – the world's most expensive headphone – as well as brand-new models of the HD 500 range or the PXC noise-cancelling headphones. Local competitors Beyerdynamic are bringing their new monitor and hifi headphones DT 1770 and DT 1990 as well as the new range of Byron earphones. American company Shure has its new electro-static earphone KSE1500 and its portable DAC/headphone combo SHA900 at the show, fellow countrymen Audeze brings the world's first fullrange planar magnetic earphone range iSine.

Pro audio company SPL will have its new headphone amps Phonitor x and Phonitor e from its SPL Pro-Fi series playing at their booth, Italian M2Tech's Evo HPDAC Two, a headphone amp with integrated DXD/DSD compatible DAC, will see its world premiere at CanJam Europe, just like hires DAP Opus#2 from Korea and a new product by German headphone manufacturer InEar. French company Focal shows its new highend headphones Utopia, Elear and Listen, Scottish RHA has its first portable DAC/amp, aptly called Dacamp L1, as well as high-res earphones CL1 Ceramic and CL750 made from stainless steel. Five-way hybrid earphone FIDUE A91 Sirius and 1More's Bluetooth earphone IBFree have their European premiere at CanJam Europe. German audio specialist Lehmannaudio introduce their Drachenfels headphone amplifier.

In addition to commercial exhibitors, private headphone enthusiasts will show their lovingly-curated, often modified setups and invite like-minded hobbyists to talk shop.
